The Shield 1961

Joliet Junior College
Joliet, Illinois

Foreword

The

Each student daily comes in contact with many kinds of textures, the smoothness of the glass covering the bulletin boards, the pebbly surface of the sidewalk, the crystals of the snow, and the swirling grains of wooden desks.

Various emotions or feelings for the college are associated with these textures. Tradition, progress, knowledge, romance, and memories are reflections of textures with which students are acquainted. Each well-known texture may symbolize different things to different people. The marbled halls with their grooves and cracks caused by years of wear may represent tradition to one person or knowledge to another. The 1961 SHIELD staff has therefore chosen the theme, "Texture," to remind students of the subconscious symbols which are essential parts of college life.

The 1961 SHIELD is a pictorial synopsis of the academic and social life at JJC. It is not an individual story but the story of the student body of over one-thousand collegians. Their work, their play, their aspirations, and their accomplishments are contained within these pages, and for this reason, to them we dedicate the 1961 SHIELD.

Despite the heat, the pressure and the many problems involved with registration, Dean Rowley remains calm.

On September 6 and 7, students once again invaded the halls of JJC to register for fall classes. The enrollment reached an all-time high of over 1000 students. Freshmen and transfer students were on hand the following day for orientation, during which they were introduced to the organizations of JJC and were instructed in the procedures of the college. Later that day, food, a series of laughter-provoking contests and getting acquainted made the annual picnic at Inwood Park a good beginning for the new year. Classes began on the 9th, and everyone settled down for a year of academic and social activity.

Those First Days . . .

"Looks as if enrollment has increased quite a bit over last year's," Bill Hibner comments to Larry Hawkinson and Pat Dillon as they wait in the sophomore registration line.

Eat, drink, and be merry, girls, for tomorrow you may diet!

"Go! Go! All the way, one way!" was the battle cry of the team as they repeatedly carried the ball over the goal line for a smashing triumph over Wilson Junior College.

Promoting school spirit at the pep rally were the auxiliary cheerleaders. Nice work girls!

Campaign for Candidates . . .

With the chill winds of October 13, 14, and 15 came the annual Homecoming celebration. Activities began with the girls' football game from which the Vets-sponsored team emerged victorious over the Lettermen's. Other events of this Thursday evening were the bonfire, victory cheers, and a mixer.

Adding to the mounting tension on Friday night was the parade to the stadium which included floats representing JC clubs. The climax of the weekend was the game with Morton at which the Wolves performed their best and brought a victory.

Concluding the gala weekend was the Homecoming dance, one of the largest in JC's history. Plans were begun the previous spring by the dance sponsors, the class of 1955. Alumni were notified of the date, making the dance a special reunion. The highlight of the dance was the official coronation of the queen and presentation of her court.

Stan Kenton . . .

One of the biggest social activities of a JJC year is the fall formal. The co-chairmen, Dennie Sue Batis and Har Davis began plans early; committees were chosen; and, everyone started working to set the scene for a "Winter Prelude" and the jazz of Stan Kenton's orchestra.

The stage was finally set on November 25th, and when the couples arrived, they walked into a winter wonderland of lavender, blue, and white. A snowy hillside and a picturesque wooden bridge enhanced this fairyland. The tall, lanky Stan Kenton directed the orchestra in playing his distinctive type of music, "artistry in rhythm." The traditional grand march was led by the committee chairmen. To satisfy the jazz enthusiasts, Kenton played "The Big Chase" and "The Peanut Vendor," two modern jazz selections. A romantic medley ended the evening, and "Winter Prelude" became a series of impressions in each person's memory.

The grand march is a traditional feature of the fall formal.

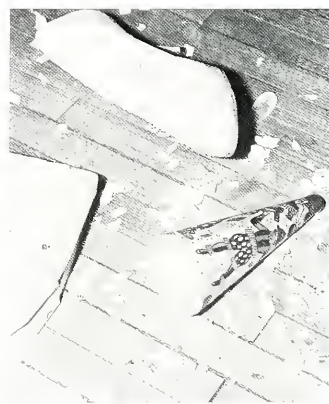

The nationally acclaimed orchestra leader, Stan Kenton, has a vibrant personality.

Pausing a moment for a friendly greeting at the New Year's Eve dance, these JC students reflect the holiday spirit and genial atmosphere of the occasion.

Holiday

A common sight at the New Year's Eve dance was a discarded horn and shoes among the confetti.

Daughters honored their mothers at the WAL pre-Christmas tea where special music was provided by the JC Choir.

Spirit Captures All . . .

Along with Christmas vacation came a gala string of holiday parties which kept JC students busy. Foremost of these activities were the two all-school-sponsored events, the Christmas mixer and the New Year's Eve dance. At the mixer Santa Claus read the letters he had received at the North Pole from the JC students. The couples at the New Year's Eve dance greeted the year 1961 with laughter, plenty of noise, and good cheer. They danced from 9:00 p. m. to 1:00 a. m. to the music of Bill Carnegie's orchestra.

A prelude to the Christmas season was the annual WAL Mother-Daughter tea. With punch and cookies everyone enjoyed the Yuletide atmosphere. Most of the JC organizations held holiday gatherings to promote the Christmas spirit.

An unexpected visitor at the Christmas mixer was jolly old St. Nick, bearing candy canes and Christmas wishes.

The members of Press Club enjoyed a comic gift exchange at their Christmas Party.

"Twirp" - The Woman Is Requested

Proud of her captive of Lil' Abner, alias Dave Warthen, was the triumphant Elaine Lasser.

Twirp Season began with a "bang" at the skating-mixer held at Inwood Ice Rink. This mixer, sponsored by the SMS, proved to be one of the biggest and most popular mixers of the year. According to the rules of the turn-about the girls drove the cars, picked up the fellows, helped them with their coats, and paid for the entertainment.

The Sadie Hawkins dance provided a chance for the best-dressed students to shine. Round and square dancing kept the "Dogpatch folk" moving at a tremendous pace. Apple cider and donuts refreshed the famished "Lil Abners" and "Daisy Maes."

Prizes at the barn dance were given to the best-dressed Daisy Mae and Lil' Abner and for the longest beards and most unmanly beard. Winners of these contests were Barb Meurer, Dave Warthen, Gary Wilhelmi, and Jim Hancock.

Stopping to catch their breath were some of the "folk" from "Dogpatch" - Pat Smith, Gil Jacobs, Meg Bennett, and Bill Wenger.

Having fun on the ice, at the skating mixer which officially opened Twirp Season, were these JC students.

Caught eating popcorn with her cider, was cute freckle-faced Pat Mahoney.

Pert and perky Barb Meurer, shown with her date, Jim Klen, was chosen as the best-dressed for Daisy Mae.

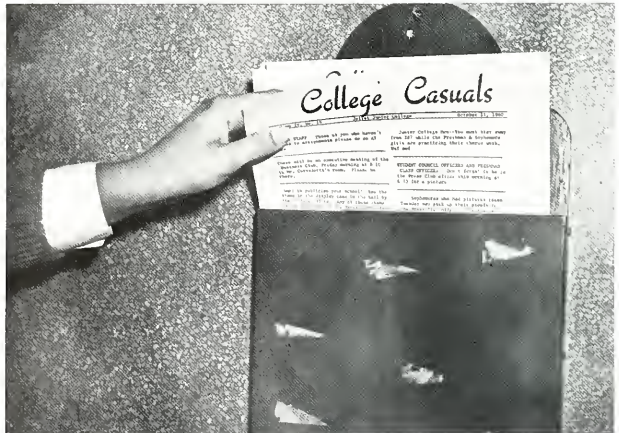

Study: The Center

A familiar face to all students, as they race against time, is the clock.

An important step in writing a term paper is locating books on the subject. Kaye Krohn is checking the card catalogue for necessary information.

An important way of getting information to the students is the tri-weekly CASUALS.

A primary asset to the library is its collection of current newspapers.

Daily practice is necessary for the music students at JC.

Students Pursue

Computing an answer with his slide rule is John Gregg, a chemistry student.

One of the diversified activities of the girls physical education department is fencing. Angela Lukancic and Martha Sandberg are seen dueling.

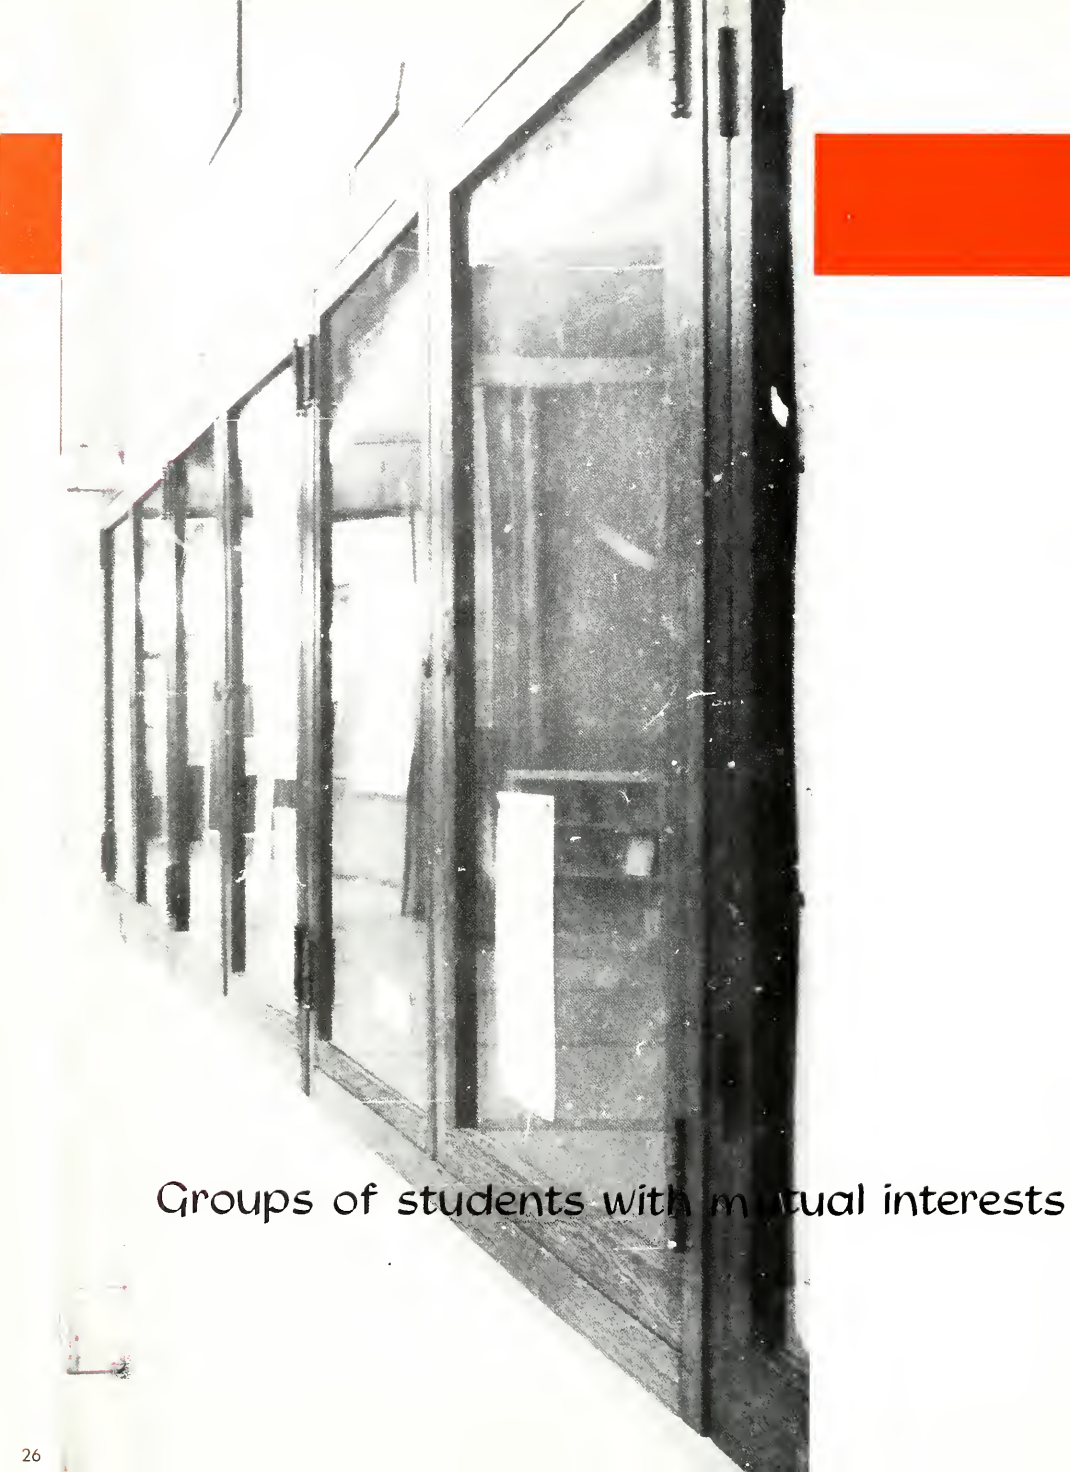

Participating in a cooking class Renee Slatton, Joyce Speckman, Sally Booth, and Sandy Balog use a favorite recipe of the class---fudge.

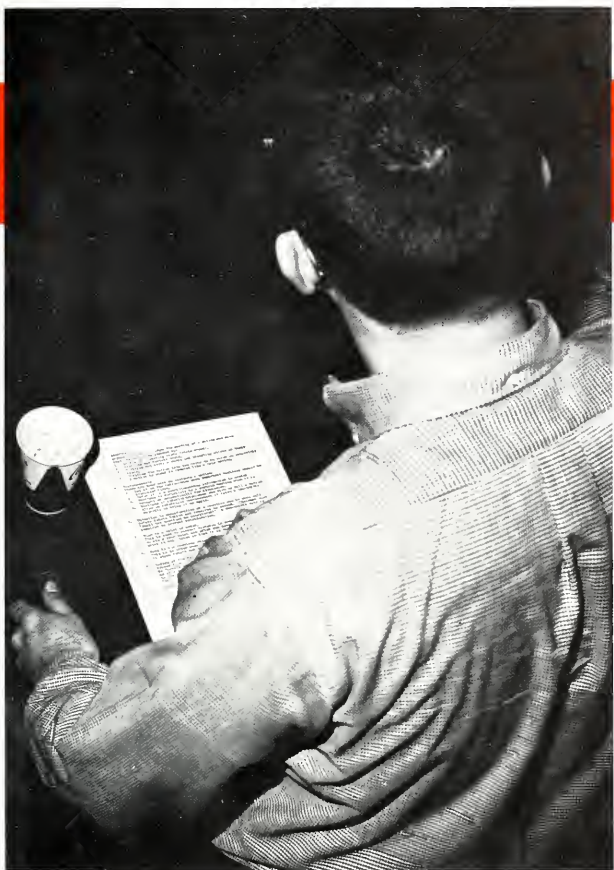

As she holds a visual aid for her class, Rita Ragsdale emphasizes a point in her speech.

Mr. Schoenknecht points out interesting characteristics of a monitor from Ethiopia to zoology students Mike Kostecki, Phyllis Chalstrom, Jim Allen, and Cosmo Misischia.

Pat Mahoney, secretary; Don Brown, president; Miss Wood, sponsor; and John Elwood, vice-president discuss ideas to be presented to the Council.

School Activities . . .

This year the Student Council was responsible for two very worthwhile additions to the school. The first of these was the book exchange which provided students with a chance to save money on their books and to supply money for a scholarship fund for JJC students. The second innovation was "Twirp Season," held February 10-18. The girl-ask-boy season was ended with the annual Sadie Hawkins dance.

Among the council's regular activities were the sponsoring of many of the year's social events, including Homecoming, the fall formal, the Christmas mixer, and several after-game mixers. The group also took charge of keeping the smoker and lounge neat. For the enjoyment of the members, Student Council sponsored a hay-rack ride in October.

To plan for these projects, the Council met weekly in the lounge. The Tuesday morning meetings included a business session and breakfast.

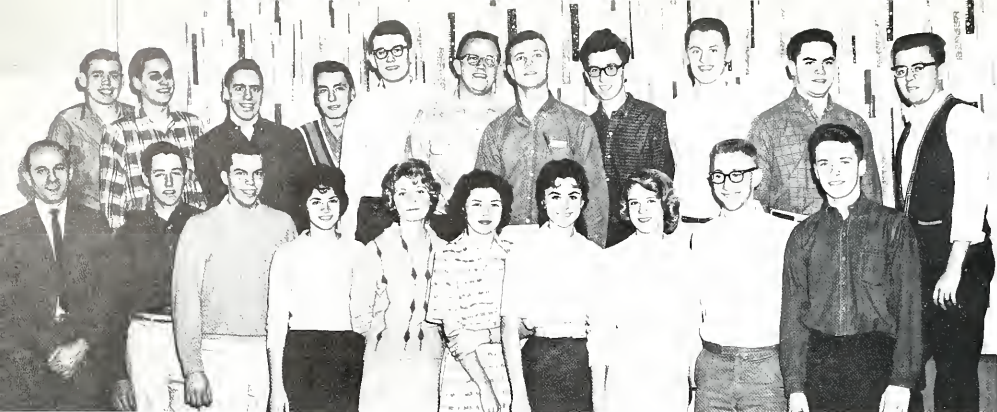

Student Council is made up of 10 in-district and 3 out-of-district representatives which are elected by the student body, representatives from each of the college's organizations, and all of the class officers.

Business Club Members Plan for the Future . . .

Business Club officers were Dave Kettwig, president; Rich Eyrich, treasurer; Jim Troutman, Student Council representative; Bill Laken, vice-president; Mary Ann Lambakis, secretary; and Doris Hareld, first semester Student Council representative. Mr. Corradetti was sponsor.

Business students with an eye on the future are aware of the advantages of belonging to the JJC chapter of Associated Business Students. Realizing the value of first-hand information, the group presented at its monthly meetings men and women from the business world. These people spoke to the members about the requirements, opportunities, and advantages of their specific fields and conducted informal question-answer periods following their talks.

The social calendar of the Business Club included a hayrack ride in the fall, a Christmas party, and a spring banquet. The banquet, the climax of the year, featured the presentation of awards for outstanding scholarship, loyalty, and leadership. At this time the president for next year was announced.

Guest speaker, Mr. Posie, discusses his topic with Dave Kettwig before the meeting.

Engineers Prepare for Profession . . .

One of the greatest aids in preparing for a career is first-hand information from qualified members of that profession. Realizing this, the Engineers' Club brings in engineers from all phases of the profession to speak to the group at monthly meetings. Movies are also occasionally shown to enlighten the members.

All students in the engineering curriculum are automatically members of the club. Of these, about fifty are active.

Probably the most memorable event of the year is the annual banquet, given during National Engineers Week, by the Joliet Chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers. At this banquet, an award is presented to the most outstanding engineering student.

The club also awards special pins to those members with outstanding grade averages: a silver pin for 3.2-3.5, and a gold one for those averages above 3.5.

Boosters Support School Activities . . .

BOOSTERS' CLUB OFFICERS: Dawn Hartwig, student council representative; Tom Kienlen, president; and Ruth Kenney, secretary-treasurer.

Members of the Boosters' Club make up the most energetic part of the spectators' section at JJC sports events.

Composed of some of the most energetic students around JJC, the Boosters Club has as its primary purpose supporting the activities of the college. These activities include not only the sports events but all social activities.

Portraying the spirit of the Boosters' Club, Sandy Pluth expresses delight as the Wolves score another point.

Officers Jerry Willey, second semester treasurer; Pat Aeschliman, first semester treasurer; Bonnie Bitter, first semester secretary; Dave Gross, president; Bruce Johnston, vice-president; and Janess Nelson, second semester secretary, led SMS through two successful semesters.

Besides regular classroom work, there is much to be learned about a profession. The Students of Medical Science is a club designed for the purpose of offering students some of this knowledge.

Programs at the monthly meetings featured many excellent professional films and eminent speakers from the medical field. The group toured several hospitals, medical schools, and other related institutions in the area.

One of the largest clubs in JJC, SMS includes all students in any of the medical curricula and has over one hundred members. Included in this group are about forty nurses from Silver Cross Hospital School of Nursing.

SEA Members: Educators of Tomorrow . . .

The Student Education Association is a professional organization for students who are preparing for a career in teaching. The local chapter, which has an active membership of fifty-eight, provides members with opportunities to keep informed about the history, ethics, and opportunities of the teaching profession.

These future educators were enlightened by conferences, trips to universities, and tours of nearby elementary schools. SEA projects included serving "Teachers' Treat" which was a courtesy during American Education Week, ushering for "Back to School" night, and entertaining high school FTA members. The Christmas party, the tea for teachers who participated in the student observation program, and the annual spring banquet added a social aspect.

OFFICERS: Barney Machaj, president; Carol Koenig, secretary-treasurer; Lois Legan, Student Council representative; and Terry Williams, vice-president. Mrs. Brewer sponsored the group.

Strictly for the girls is the Women's Activity League. All women students at JJC are automatically members of the WAL, and of these about thirty were active members this year. Meetings were held monthly, and besides regular business sessions, programs of special interest to the girls, such as talks by representatives from the various professions and travelogues, were featured.

Outstanding among the year's events were the Mother-Daughter Tea, the annual WAL dance, and the Sports Night for JJC women.

WAL officers were Pat Smith, president; Lynn Hills, secretary; Muff Merlo, vice-president; and Carol Strappazon, treasurer. Not pictured was Roseanne Malinovich, Student Council representative. Sponsors were Miss Georgina Smith and Miss Lemanski.

New and Unique Discussion Club Is Formed . . .

Jerry Willey, Jim Kochevar, Scott Rodeghiero, Mark Fracaro, John Elwood, Gary Wilhelmi, and Don Brown were members of the original chapter, Alpha. Mr. Birkholz was sponsor.

A note of lightness enters a discussion of school problems by Pat Smith, Pat Mahoney, Gary Wilhelmi, and Larry Keinlen.

Though their club is newly formed, members of the Discussion Club at JC may easily claim that their club is probably one of the most unique clubs at JC.

The club is divided into several groups or chapters, each composed of a maximum of twelve members. The Discussion Club elected no officers except a representative to the Student Council, and the club holds no formal business meetings. The purpose of the club is to enable members to gain knowledge through discussion. Because the club has no projects and did not enter into competition with other organizations, members were able to spend their entire meetings discussing pre-decided topics.

Mrs. Ann Frick, Press Club sponsor, and second semester Press Club officers, Jerry Lundeen, president; Sally Farnsworth, secretary; Pat Treseder, Student Council representative; and Ron Hughes, vice-president, gather just before a meeting.

"BLAZER assignments due today." "Yearbook workshop, October 1st." So reads the bulletin board in the Press Club office. Not only is the Press Club the oldest organization at JJC, it is one of the most important. Certainly this group is the busiest, having as its major goals the publication of the BLAZER, SHIELD, COLLEGE CASUALS, and "The Wolf Call."

At the weekly meetings, the fifty members of the Press Club conducted regular business meetings and were frequently informed and entertained by speakers and movies regarding various phases of journalism.

Relaxation for Press Club members came through attending yearbook and newspaper conferences, building a float during Homecoming, and attending a party during the holidays.

Barney Machaj gives the SPECTATOR editor this week's copy of "The Wolf Call."

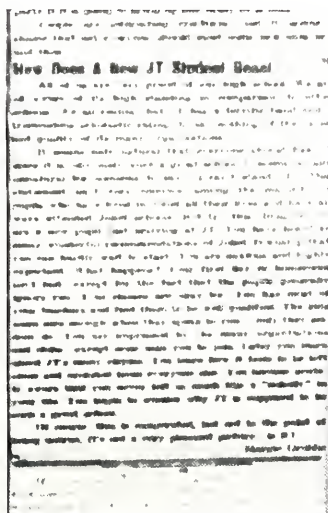

Jerry Lundeen, Joe Edmon, and Jerry Walker work together to get the Press Club float done for Homecoming.

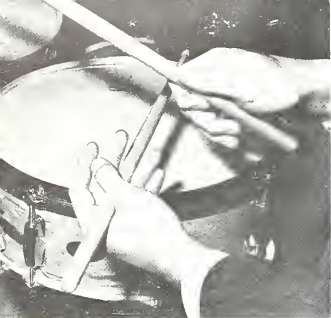

Hard-working chiefs for this year's publications were Pat Treseder, editor-in-chief of the SHIELD, Pat Boland, and Ron Hughes, co-editors of the BLAZER.

Caught discussing a musical score are Don Martin, student leader; "Doc" Dellinger, director; and Rich Eyrich, librarian.

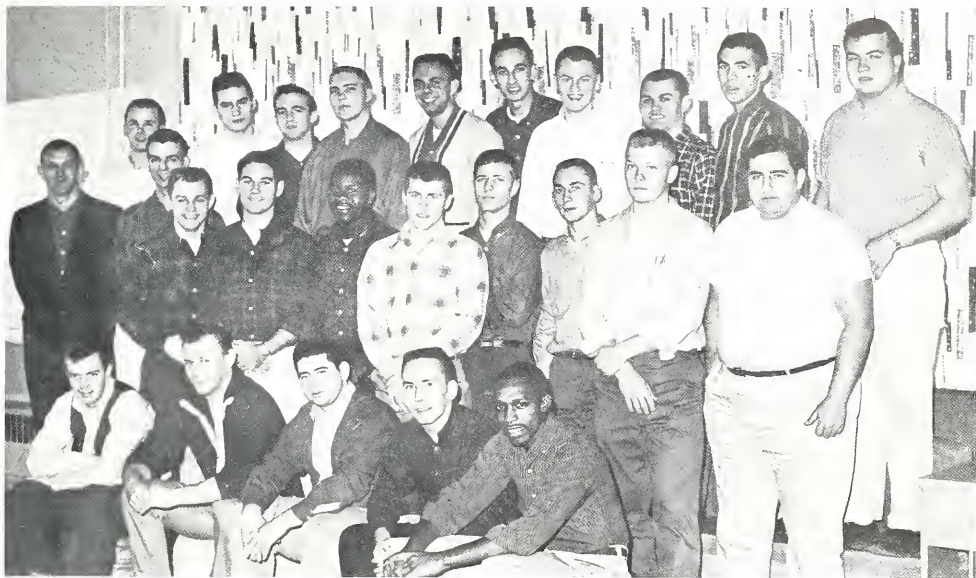

This year the Swing band gained a badly needed practice room. The room, which was completed in December, is equipped with the latest facilities and was planned for college use only.

Approximately twenty members meet twice weekly for regular practice sessions. Their main projects were carried out in the spring. In March the group went on tour to several of the high schools in the Joliet area for the purpose of encouraging students to attend JJC. Swing Band also participated in the annual spring musical, held March 18 and 19.

Lettermen Encourage Sports Participation . . .

The team is, of course, the most important part of any sport. The best members of all the teams of JJC constitute the Letterman's club. The purpose of the organization is to encourage JC men to participate in sports. One of the ways the club does this is by providing recognition to outstanding players. Membership in the club, as well as the awarding of letters and jackets, is based on this idea. Highlighting the year is the presentation of awards to the most valuable player, the most valuable athlete, and the athlete-of-year, awards which are based on participation, scholarship, and leadership.

OFFICERS: Frank Crotty, secretary-treasurer; Gary Wilhelmi, vice-president; and Bill Sparlin, president.

Some of the earliest risers around JC were the choir members who met three times weekly at 8:00 a. m. Results of these early-morning practice sessions were seen at the choir's several public performances. The choir presented a program for the WAL Christmas tea, sang for local organizations, and during the holidays caroled at local hospitals and nursing homes. In the spring, the choir cooperated with the swing band in the annual tour to area high schools. Choir and swing band again combined efforts in presenting the memorable Junior College Spring Musical.

JC Players Present

JC Players officers this year were Larry Johnson, treasurer; Jeannette Pinnick, secretary; Mark Fracaro, culture director; and Joan Krohn, president. Mr. McCarter is the sponsor. Not pictured are Bob Korb, vice-president and Charlene Westerwelle, student council representative.

Even more fun than watching a play is being in one. Such is the philosophy of the JC Players. This group has as its purpose appreciation of and participation in the theatre in all its phases.

The Players produce several plays each year. This year the group also attended a number of theatrical productions, including the stage play, "Mid-Summer Night's Dream."

Well worth remembering were the cast parties and the monthly meetings, at which special programs were given.

‘Variations’ . . .

The JC Players annual trio of one-act plays was presented on December first and second. The evening's entertainment gave evidence of weeks of hard work by the Players. This year's trio was titled "Variations," and ranged from straight comedy to tense drama.

In "Dark of the Moon," the Players, directed by Joan Krohn, skillfully created the mythical and legendary atmosphere that surrounds the lives of the mountain people of the South.

A feeling of rollicking good humor pervaded the auditorium as the "Ugly Duckling" was presented. Director Bob Korb guided the cast in the satirical comedy based on deception in a king's court.

Concluding the evening was a morality play, "The Slave With Two Faces," based on the fates and trials of life.

The audience, which was seated in a horseshoe around the actors, agreed that the performance was a credit to the JC Players.

Team effort from start to finish--that was the 1960 JJC football story as Coach Gil Bell's gridmen wound up with a successful 5-3 season.

While the offensive corps, led by backs John Dinoffri and Nate Whitmore, ground out 154 points, the Wolves' equally adept defense held the enemy scoreless in four of the five Joliet victories. The season highlight was a 49-0 homecoming conquest of Morton JC.

Dinoffri was the team's No. 1 rusher with 496 yards in 106 carries for a 4.7 average, while Whitmore racked up 305 yards in 71 attempts. The two tied for scoring leadership with 32 points.

Jack McDonald, Jerry Morris, Dinoffri, and Whitmore were named to the Illinois Junior College All-Conference first team. Seven other Wolves were second team selections or received honorable mention. Dinoffri, Morris, and Ed Mateševac placed on the Wigman - Wisemen All-America squad.

Wolves . . . Champs in Region Four

A year to remember--this was the 1960-61 JJC basketball season.

Living up to the tradition established in A.A. "Fizz" Wills' twenty-seven years as coach, the hardcourt Aces compiled a fine 23-7 overall record. Included among their accomplishments were a tie for the Illinois Junior College Conference title, the Region Four JC Championship, and a trip to Hutchinson, Kansas, for the national finals.

The Wolves topped 100 points on twelve separate occasions, and achieved distinction as the nation's No. 1 scoring unit. Running up a 19-3 record in regular season junior college play, Joliet closed with an overall 93.5 points-per-game average.

Tourney . . .

Off to a nine-game winning streak at the beginning of the campaign, JJC survived a midseason slump and sailed into the home stretch on the wings of a seven-game streak. The Wolves captured the Region Four title by thumping Amundsen 102-48 in the opening round, then by taking a forfeit win over snowbound Concordia, Wisconsin, and finally by beating Wright 119-97 in the title clash. But the Wolves tumbled to Young Harris, Georgia, in the first round of the national finals and were knocked out of the tourney by host Hutchinson.

Jim Garrison (34) and Denny Wilhelmi (54) wait to get the tip.

Trainer Vince Catarello keeps the team in top physical condition.

Team in Scoring . . .

Pass the ball to Tom, Ed! He's all alone under the basket!

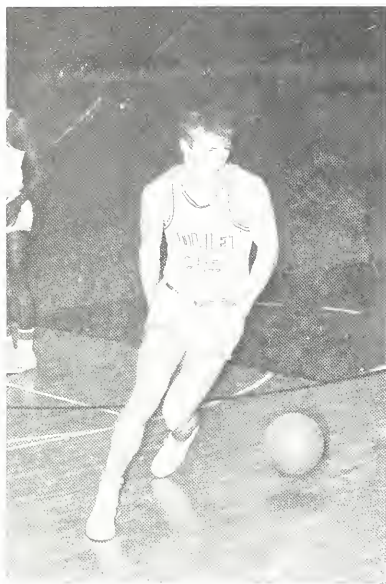

Dennis Wilhelmi grabs in another rebound.

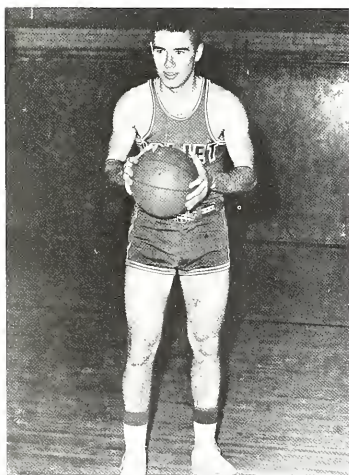

That's two more points for Jim Garrison.

Individual Effort

Bill Sparlin was voted most valuable player by his teammates.

Jerry Widlowski was a starting regular for two seasons.

Throughout the season, Bill Sparlin was the team spark plug. He finished with 575 points, a 19.8 average, and a .470 shooting percentage, hitting a high of 39 points against Wright. Selected most valuable player by his teammates, Bill's dribbling exhibitions and his ability to connect from 20 feet out proved a great source of pleasure for the fans.

Ed Edson and Dennis Wilhelmi, the six-foot-four "gold dust twins" of the Wolves, averaged 16.6 and 13.6 points per game, respectively. Their rebounding talents and scoring potential plagued many an opponent. Defensive ace Jim Garrison and all round player Jerry Widlowski finished with averages of 12.8 and 13.6.

Though completing his eligibility at midyear, Davey French made an invaluable contribution to the Wolves' success. He averaged 10.7 for 15 games and swept backboards all over northern Illinois.

Ed Edson was the only freshman starter on the squad.

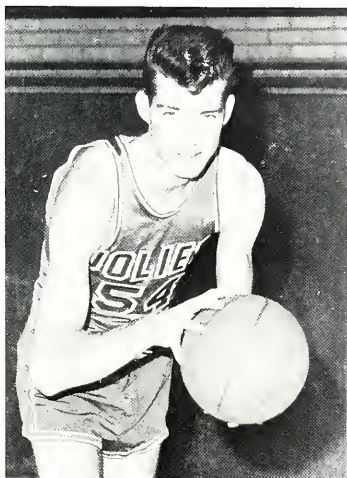

Sparks Team . . .

The team lost a valuable player when Dave French graduated in January.

Coach Wills shows concern over the play of the team.

Dennis Wilhelmi provided rebounding strength for the team.

Jim Garrison was defensive ace on the squad.

Golf Team Gains Second in Conference . . .

Capping a successful season, JJC's six-man golf team took second place in the Northern Illinois JuCo League meet at White Pines course at Bensonville.

Bob Kegley paced the Linksmen to their runner-up total of 324 with a 78, followed by Jerry Widlowski at 81; Gary Wigell, 82; and Brian Conrad, 83. Frank Trizna shot 86, but only the four highest scores counted in the total. Dave Kettwig was also a member of the squad.

Playing at White Pines, Timber Trails in LaGrange, and at Woodruff, Joliet ran up a 5-3 won-lost record. Other members of the league were LaGrange, Thornton, Lyons, and Wright of Chicago.

This is Coach Marshall Erickson's first year with the golf team.

These vivacious girls, Pat Mahoney, Jo Ann Martin, Judy Rakoski, Joyce Speckman, Paula Ross, and Dawn Hartwig, combine their efforts to encourage school spirit.

Cheerleaders Encourage School Spirit . . .

Supplements to this year's cheerleaders' squad were Larry Kienlen, Tom Kienlen, and Paul Brower.

Through rain or shine, victory or defeat . . . whatever the outcome, the cheerleaders remained the most enthusiastic supporters of JJC's athletic teams throughout the 1960-61 season. These vivacious girls and strong-lunged boys were constantly rallying the team along with such cries as "J-J-Jol, I-I-Iet", "You gotta F-I-G-H-T", or 'just plain "C'mon Wolves, let's go. " Was their effervescence diminished that frigid night they yelled encouragement in front of half-empty football stands? Were they deeply disappointed by that last-second, one point basketball defeat cancelling 40 minutes of supreme effort? The answer in both cases is, of course, yes. But you can bet that these living examples of school spirit, if given the chance, wouldn't have traded places with anyone else in the world.

A striking example of enthusiasm is the captain of the cheerleaders squad, Dawn Hartwig.

An Able Administration Guides Our

DR. WILLIAM C. FRENCH

A friendly smile and warm greeting await those who meet Dr. William C. French, the new superintendent of the Joliet Township High School and Junior College.

A native of Kansas, Dr. French, who is married and the father of four children, received his Bachelor of Arts degree at Pomona College in Pomona, California. He continued his education at Teachers College, Columbia University, in New York, where he obtained his Master's and Doctor of Education degrees.

Prior to his arrival in Joliet, he served as an administration assistant at the Evanston Township High School, principal of the Moline Community High School and Junior College, and principal of Syosset High School in New York. He has taught at Evanston Township High School and Rye High School in New York.

With the belief that a family should participate in activities together, Dr. French and his family enjoy swimming, skiing, and vacationing.

The Board of Education, which is composed of seven members, tackles such problems as setting salaries, selecting teachers, appropriating funds, proposing tax referendums, and any other matters dealing directly with the school. In order to best take care of the business of the school, the board meets every month. Special meetings and study sessions are also held for investigating the major problems.

Helping students work out their problems and organizing school activities are the main responsibilities of Dean Elmer W. Rowley.

Available to students for help, guidance, or just to lend an attentive ear, he is always willing to speak at pep rallies and likes to participate in the J. C. extra-curricular activities.

A native of the Lockport-Homer area, the Dean and his wife have five children, a son and four daughters.

Dean Rowley can usually be found in the midst of a group of young people sharing their enthusiasm, laughing at a good joke while enjoying his pipe or cigar, and topping it off with a hearty smile.

A warm-hearted smile, a friendly word, and a helping hand, these and many other qualities are possessed by Miss Susan Wood. Despite her hectic schedule as assistant dean, she remains calm and smiling. Her numerous and varied duties include approving work scholarships, answering telephone calls, writing and answering letters, and counseling, or just talking to students. Favorite pastimes of Miss Wood are traveling, playing bridge, and reading.

The former superintendent of the Beecher Community Unit District, Mr. John French, came to JJC this past September to serve as assistant to the dean. After serving only six months in this position, he was named by the school board as the new general and assistant superintendent of the junior college and high school. Mr. French, who is a native of Potomac, Illinois, has been prominent in various educational studies on both a state and national level; also he has been active in several educational organizations. Around JJC, Mr. French has proven himself a welcome and able administrator, as is evident by his speedy advancement.

Regular meetings with the dean and assistant dean are attended by the college advisers to keep abreast of the latest developments in the college. Besides counseling the JC students in selecting the best courses for their futures, the advisers also teach their respective classes.

Silver Cross Hospital Nursing Home is the center of student nurses' lives.

Curriculum Important Part of Nurses' Training . . .

In conjunction with the nursing program offered at Silver Cross Hospital, the junior college has offered special courses in sciences and related subjects in order to supplement the nurses' curriculum.

This year over thirty young ladies took advantage of this program by taking courses such as microbiology and a special study of nurse's psychology.

Always amiable and willing to share their microscopes with any curious admirer, the Silver Cross nurses are a great addition to the student body of Joliet Junior College.

Views We Seldom Noticed . . .

Faces We May

Never See Again . . .

It was so clear, so everyday, so unimportant, the present which is now the fading past. What was her name... that girl who sat next to me in rhetoric? Who were they all? They came and went so quickly... I hardly said hello... and they had vanished. A maze of faces... a blur of names... are remnants of a fleeting moment. It seemed then that it would never end, that faces in the halls were a steady stream of life, that we all were one. How can that one be no more? We have separated and now are individuals. He was right, whoever said, "the whole is more than the sum of the parts."

In Memoriam

David Leroy Underhill

David L. Underhill of Lockport, a Joliet Junior College sophomore, was only nineteen when an unfortunate swimming accident took his life in the summer of 1960. When this tragedy occurred, all those who knew Dave realized that they were deprived of the companionship of an individual of integrity, sportsmanship, courtesy, and wit. Substituting sheer desire for ability in striving for achievement, he evoked admiration from those who watched him work. His charitable trait of helping his friends and acquaintances, no matter what the inconvenience may have been, was an inspiration to them.
